Dear Frank:

Please note I am shipping by Federal Express the 19 prints of the Pop Art portfolio that I acquired. They are listed attached.

The Larry Rivers sculpture will be forwarded to you as soon as I receive it restored.

You can go ahead and have an appraisal conducted, at my expense.

I am happy that the Herbert F. Johnson Museum will someday be able to present these works to our students.

Regards,

Dear Miguel,

My warmest thanks for writing me about the series of prints for Leo Castelli, and the sculpture by Larry Rivers; that is a famous and wonderful group of works, and as it happens, the Museum doesn't own them. We would be delighted to have them in the collection; they embody the Sixties, and Pop Art, beautifully; they will make that amazing time come alive and be relevant for all our students.

Of course, it is special to have this gift credited to Augusto, Alejandro, and Miguel, students giving to students. I really look forward to meeting them some day.

We will be very happy to arrange for an appraisal; Matt Conway, the Museum registrar, is an expert at facilitating that. Unfortunately, according to IRS rules, the donor has to pay for the appraisal, by a professional appraiser, instead of the donee (the Museum).

Many, many thanks again for an important addition to our collection. I hope to see you in December, at Miami Basel; I look forward to the tours.

Best regards,

Franklin W. Robinson
